WHEAT POOL HANDLED SEVEN HUNDRED AND FIFTY MILLION BUSHELS

The Alberta Wheat Pool has made its final payment, this being 25¢ per bushel for wheat delivered to the 1927-28 Pool, except for a few minor grades. The total of this payment was $1,955,622.58.

The Pool paid the following prices for wheat delivered from the 1927 crop: 1 Northern, $1.42½; 2 Northern, $1.35½; 3 Northern, $1.25½; No. 4, $1.14½; No. 5, $1.01½; No. 6, 92½¢; Feed, 85½¢.

When the Wheat Pool distributed its second interim payment last July, 16¢ per bushel were retained to provide for elevator reserve and administration costs. It was found that 31¢ per bushel were required for these purposes so that one-half cent balance was included in the final payment along with the 25¢ per bushel received from the Central Selling Agency.

The administration costs during the last year were $20 a cent a bushel. The elevator reserve deduction was 2¢ per bushel, and the commercial reserve was 1.126¢.

The elevator reserve now totals approximately $3,550,000. This money has been used to pay for over 300 elevators and the Alberta Pool's share of the terminal elevator at the Head of the Lakes. The commercial reserve now totals approximately $1,750,000.

These reserve funds are required to develop the physical facilities of the Wheat Pool that the organization is extended very rapidly at the present time. An aggressive elevator building program is being carried out.

Each member is credited with the number of bushels delivered. Interest at the rate of 4% is paid to the growers and at the same time the organization is building up a comprehensive and modern elevator system.

The issuing of the final payment for the 1927 crop ends the business of the Wheat Pool's first 5 year contract period. During that time the Canadian Wheat Pool handled approximately

CANADIAN ORATOR FINISHED THIRD AT WASHINGTON

WASHINGTON—The contestants competing in the International Oratorical Contest represented eight countries, and Rene Ponton, the Frenchman, was the winner, Joe D. Tomasco, of Buenos Aires was second, and William Fox, of London, Ontario, third. These young men were accorded a grand reception by over six thousand people assembled.

The result of the first ballot was a tie, after which the judges again retired and returned, making the decision as above.

A robbery was reported at Walsh, Sask., and an S.O.B. was sent out to the members of the Alberta Provincial Police to be on the lookout for a bunch of fellows who were driving in a truck and were under suspicion.

Among the police members notified was Constable Bill Harrison, of Strathmore.

He made a trip out the east highway, but made no discovery, later returning to town, but still keeping an eagle eye on the lookout.

On Tuesday afternoon while scouting near the Strathmore School, he saw a truck approaching bearing an Ontario license, and carrying a crew, among the number was one colored portland. These points were about the only ones that the doctory officer had to guide him.

He promptly ordered them to stop, and stepping out the waiting boat, he gave orders for a quick march to the barracks.

The bunch promptly complied with his request, and soon were registered guests at the Hotel Harrison.

He obtained their story regarding their movements for some days, in which they claimed that they came from Ontario and had been engaged in harvesting work and intended going through to Calgary, later returning

Convicted Of Tampering With Postage Stamps

On July 26th F. Tomorski, of Trochu, Alberta, posted a letter that office bearing three previously used two cent stamps, two of which bore evidence of an attempt to remove the official cancellation marks. He was arrested and charged with using previously used stamps with fraudulent intent and also with removing cancellation marks. On the former charge he was found guilty and fined $1000 and costs. On the second charge he was committed for trial at the next District Court at Calgary and allowed out on bail of $10,000 pending trial.

In the District Court at Calgary on October 10th, Judge MacDonald found Tomorski guilty of attempting to remove cancellation marks with intent to defraud. Sentence of $1000 and costs on each charge or thirty days in jail was imposed on Tomorski, and in sentencing him the Judge explained that while there was no doubt of the man's guilt, he was dealing leniently with him because he had only been in the Country a little more than one year. Tomorski paid the three times totaling $3000 and costs, and was seriously warned.

Some by way of the United States. Two of them claimed that they had slept in the hotel at Maple Creek on the night of the robbery, while the others had occupied berths in the truck under the tarpaulin.

The men took their arrest quite coolly, and when searched were only armed with a knife.

Constable Harrison reported his capture to Calgary headquarters, and two officers were sent down, and the suspects were removed to Calgary, where further investigation will be continued.

The work of Constable Harrison was most commendable and performed so quietly that but few citizens became acquainted with the work. He had been done by this popular officer.

It requires no little nerve for an officer to go out and single handed pick up a bunch of men, the much he of the worst outfit type.

This has no bearing on the innocence or guilt of the men apprehended and the Standard wishes to congratulate Constable Harrison for his work and the Police Department in supplying such a type of officer to Strathmore and District.

Constable Harrison has been a Strathmore resident but a few months, during which time he has made a heap of friends who have liked him for his quiet gentlemanly manner in performing his duties, and are proud of him now in his handling of a case which proves that when nerve is needed, he carries a full supply.

McKenzie Funeral Held At Calgary

The remains of the late Frederick McKenzie were at rest on Thursday afternoon, October 11th, at Calgary.

A large number of friends met in the Funeral Parlor to pay their last respects to the departed.

The service was conducted by the Rev. J. N. Wilkinson who sympathetically referred to the quiet interest of the deceased in the life of the neighborhood, where he had labored so long.

Interment took place in the Burnham Cemetery, and the respect in which the deceased had been held, was evidenced by the large attendance of sympathizers and the beautiful floral tributes.

The following tributes were received: "Gates Ajar" from mother and family; sprays wreaths and baskets from Members of Chevalier United Church, Chevalier Ladies Club, Laura and Tilda, Mr. and Mrs. Barber, Russell and Lila, Mr. and Mrs. Smith, Mrs. Leeson and family, Mrs. Grace Lyons, Mr. and Mrs. W. STRATHMORE COUNCIL WAS ADDRESSED BY THE WEED SUPERVISOR

A regular meeting of the Strathmore Town Council was held on Tuesday night, Mayor Shrimpton presiding, and Councillors: Bailey, Miner, Riden, and Quinn present.

Secretary-Treasurer Wears read the minutes of the last meeting, which upon motion, were confirmed.

The Mayor and Councillor Quinn are to make arrangements about putting a fence at the clay pit, and will visit the place this week.

A letter was read from W. B. Bryan of the Provincial Police that the obtaining of the services of a "speed cop" on the Calgary highway had been referred to the Calgary Inspector Mr. Wears was instructed to get in touch with this official.

The proposed charges of the Calgary Power Co., Ltd., for making connections of $4.00 in addition to a $4.00 deposit were considered very unfair, especially to landlords who have no way of controlling the number of its connections. It was felt that the additional service tax of $1.00 per month that is now proposed should apply equally for such contingencies.

It was also felt that ten extra lights would be quite sufficient for the needs of the town.

THE ORATORICAL CONTEST COMPLETED BEFORE DEC. 15

The Canadian and International Oratorical Contest, which was such a popular event last year, the finals of which have just finished at Washington, D.C., is again being conducted by the Calgary Herald for Southern Alberta, under the following conditions:

of Strathmore in the morning, which would mean quite a waste to the town each month in street lighting; the schedule rate. The Secretary was instructed to take this matter up with the Council.

Councillor Quinn expects to have some blue prints for road sign at the Bailey Boulevard corner ready for the next meeting.

The Secretary was instructed to get title from the C.P.R. to the land at the corner of Stockton Road and Bailey Boulevard.

These instructions certainly pleased the Town Secretary, the possibility of these lands securing a considerable sum, being a strategic advertising location appeared to certain traits of the worthy official, possibly it may be the development of regular real estate in the area, as he was pleased.

The matter of painting the roof of the Town Hall for which tenders were received, was held over for further consideration.

The request by the Strathmore statement for permission to build an extension, was withheld, pending the completion of a cement foundation around some time ago.

Auditors reported the completion of the third quarterly audit to Sept. 30, and the satisfactory condition of the books of the Secretary (revenue) also reported $228.93 in the general fund, and $1851.00 in the school fund. The Council will receive $3,000 from the Provincial Government their share of the Calgary Highway cost.

The appointment of a deputy mayor for the balance of the term was next duly considered, resulting in George Quinn being again honored.

Permission will be requested from John Schultz to remove some trees and brush on his property, which it is felt, helps to create snow drifts at that point on the Calgary Highway.

The Globe Oil Co., Ltd., was reported in default of a payment Oct. 1st, on lots on Second Street.

The Secretary was instructed to get in communication with the Calgary Gas Co., with a view to securing a gas service for Strathmore.

The sum of $75.40 paid in taxes by the Anglican Church, was ordered to be refunded.

The current accounts totalling the modest sum of $4.50 were passed for payment, the small amount causing the Secretary another pleasing moment.

WHEELED CHAIN STORE BELIEVED THE NEXT STEP

WELLESLEY HILLS, Mass.—From chains to wheels may be the next step in the mechanization of merchandising, William J. Baxter, president of the Chain Store Research Bureau, predicted at the National Business Conference being held at the Babson Institute here.

Chain stores on wheels, modern shops set up on motortrucks, serving especially the smaller towns and the countryside, will soon find wide spread use, he believes.

From the Civil War until about

1900 a surprising part of all retail business was done by wagons traveling from house to house with their merchandise," he said. "Though it may seem far fetched, I believe from observations made in various sections of the country that in the future a good part of retailing must return to wheels again."

"The new traveling store, however, will be far different from that of the past. It will be an attractive modern motor vehicle, electrically refrigerated if necessary, and above all, fast and reliable. Traffic conditions and the dangers that beset children when sent out to the store today are decidedly in favor of the store moving to the consumer."

American N Teams Have Won 14 of 24 Series Since 1905

The American league's entries have triumphed in 14 of the 24 world series conflicts since 1905, but there is plenty of bait for the National league, particularly in the championship record over this period.

The Yankees' bruised humiliation on the senior circuit by trouncing the Pirates four in a row last year, and again this year walloping the Cardinals 4-0, but the National league have three times been victorious with out one loss of a single game. The Cubs smothered Detroit in 1907, the Browns ran roughshod over the Athletics in 1914 and the Giants overwhelmed the Yankees in 1922. The games in each of the 1907 and 1922 conflicts were the best the American league could do. Another outstanding feat in world series history is that no Boston team ever has met defeat, the Red Sox hauling up four triumphs and the Braves one.

The record of games and runs since 1905:

Year	Winning Club	G.	R.	Losing Club	G.	R.

THE BOY

—S—

This I have learned from a boy—
He will follow wherever you go.
In the pleasures you seem to enjoy
The keener of interest he'll show;
H'll talk as you talk and he'll be
A blend of his mother and you,
And in such that he does you will see
The things you have taught him to do.

From the boy you can learn of the end
His habits, his methods, his ways,
He'll pick up the good and the bad
And carry them on through the days;
For he sees with an eye that is keen
Both the worst and the best of your traits,
And faithful to all he has seen,
It is you whom the lad imitates.

I look at my own boy and see,
Sometimes to my shame and regret,
An exact reproduction of me
And the sorry example I've set;
So watchful his eyes and so swift
To repeat any trait I display
That I dare not now casually drift
For fear I may lead him astray.

So the man with a boy at his side
Must hew to the line and be true,
For he cannot by talking divide
The right and the wrong he may do;
And this I have found as a fact,
Young eyes copy well what they see,
For the boy like his father shall be
And the boy like his father shall be
And the boy like his father shall be

DEMSEY OUT AFTER COFFROTH HANDICAP

Jack Dempsey, ex-heavyweight champion, is reported to be on the verge of laying down $157,000 "on the line" for a couple of races, which he will "put" at the $120,000 Coffroth handicap and the $25,000 Tia Juana derby. Should he meet with success, it would not be surprising to see him quit the stage and branch out as an active money winner on the turf.

THE SAVINGS AND DOINGS OF MANY PUBLIC MEN

His Grace Archbishop Matheson: "I was offering any advice to Manitoba's educational authorities for the schools which I have loved, it would be, first, the reappearing of the characteristic of thoroughness which marked those old parish schools. Exactness of knowledge and learning for the sake of learning. That would mean few subjects, but I am convinced it would mean more truly educated boys and girls."

"Secondly I would like to see us in our schools make use of all the powers granted in the Act for religious instruction. The implementing of that clause depends upon the good will of the trustees, but that consent would easily be obtained on the demand of the public. I do not advocate for an instant the segregation of the children of this denomination here and that one there. But I think the Protestant churches should come to rather with a definite pronouncement in this matter. The lack of knowledge of the Bible even among otherwise literate persons is this day astonishing. There are certain great passages which should be the property of all and even on the basis of the glory of the language should be part of the equipment of all our children. True the book bristles with difficulties but that is no reason why the laying out of the centre should not be attacked with the determination to succeed."

Henry Pratt: "The old science of government as practiced by politicians is a thing of the past. The new science of government calls for engineers—social engineers."

R. L. Putnam: "The airplane already has expanded the effective trade and distribution circle from five miles to 200."

Chas. A. Kneass: "We reckon if a kid could choose his own mother it wouldn't take him long to make the choice between one who could bake cookies and one who always knew what kind of kid to make when he had a five-cent cake."

Rev. George Pidgeon, former moderator of the United Church, who declared at Winnipeg he never before had noted such a quickening in a people's sense of religion as at the present time. Minds were turning from theology to religion.

He urged that the first year be spent on the central truths of Christianity and the second in a study of Jesus. He chose that order because the 19th century of Jesus would be observed at Easter, 1930. Then would follow the message of pentecost.

Gilbert Murray: "I know of nothing more dramatic in history than that the terrific rapid progress of America should have ended in the American Peace Movement."

Franklin P. Adams: "What the worker worries about now is that the dinner pail will be so full that it will spill over and spoil the upholstery of his sedan."

Sir Arthur Stanley: "There is more than one thing for which we are grateful to the radio; you can not only switch it on—but you can switch it off."

Charles Johnston: "Beasts and birds inhabit the world; only man inhabits the universe."

J. L. Garvin: "Most people in most positions are as interchangeable as spare parts."

Dr. Frederick Lynch: "Newspapers should always keep before their readers the ideal of unity as expressed in the Lord's Prayer and impress upon the public that we have a common enemy in paganism now rampant, especially in the big cities."

Editor King, of the Claresholm local Press, got this off his chest several weeks ago expressed appreciation over the Editor's column, and have asked us to keep up the idea. Sometimes when setting out to write a column I would be fired with inspiration and that the Lord God Almighty would fill me with words, like as through a funnel. But, do you know, brethren, when I got up to speak it felt as if the devil had turned the funnel upside down.

A. D. Mackay, at Standard: "We are, all darn fools to allow a little bit of snow to stop our roads or block them temporarily. The cost of de-icing and snow removal is too insignificant in consideration of the commodities and comfort it affords."

Mustapha Kemal Pasha: "We are on the point of surrendering the domestic chains of the past. In two years everyone must have learnt how to read and write with the new characters. Our country will then take its place in the civilized world by reason of its literature and learning."

Herbert Hoover: "It is in times of common emergency that the spirit of the small towns ascends to superlative heights. If this is 'habituity' then let us have more of it."

V. H. Friedlander: "When God perceives a man who would not care."

To have the gift of tongues or love or healing.

A man who has no wish to do or dare. For science no regard, for art no feeling;

A man whose soul knows neither heaven nor hell, Whose heart is empty both of milk and honey—

When God sees this. He says to Gabriel, "Give the poor fellow lots and lots of money."

Miss Elizabeth Corbett: "A nation's success in the business of fine living rests very largely with its small cities."

A LADY who was telling Fred J. Dunn not to ask so many questions. MARK CHILLIN telling Jim Moran a few things about fishing on Sunday, and Jim telling Mark a few more things about watching Sunday ball games; and then they both got busy and put the double windows on the school buildings and everything. UNSTABLE BILL HARRISON waiting and waiting for the next "dud" alarm. M. A. RELLINGER all smiles during the cold snap, watching the big heaters finding new homes. JIM MORAN was in bad humor on Sunday night, and that is a sad thing for a good natured Irishman, when he returned from a Carleton Place fishing trip, without having had any use for his elastic yard stick—not even a bite, "and to think," said Jim, "that was the last chance of the season."

THE MCKECHNIE discovering a new use for "Vanishing Cream". PEABODY FAIRBANK attempting to destroy Bill Wilkinson, by getting him out to work early Monday morning before Bill had perished of his "am and hezes". BILL SAUNDERS and poor "travel" in state on Sunday afternoon in a fine big car. Gee, who wouldn't be a harness king. DICK BAILEY making delivery of spuds to his own customers that would make any "Spud Islander" jealous. "There are only a few of us left who can grow them like these," said Dick, as he tottered off with a hundred pound sack on each shoulder. THE STRATHMORE ORCHESTRA supplying a splendid musical program at the Elks Dance, causing Jim Gannon to wear a million dollar smile as the orchestra responded with their popular encores; no need to send to Calgary when you can have a better home service. JIM WEIR standing between love and duty: a call to a meeting in Calgary and one to Tennis Club executive meeting. Hard luck Jim. THE JUNIOR CHURCH under the leadership of C. A. Lydiate in the United Church, pleasing the congregation very much. THE DEBATORS getting all kinds of facts for the I.O.D.E. Debate in November. HECTOR MCGREGOR and MIKE MORAN touring the South road on Sunday afternoon in McGregors Super Six. BILLY KENNEL making a real hit with the nurses at the Calgary General Hospital. Mighty good thing for Charlie that his son and heir is young, or he might lose him. H.L. BLACKWELL explaining that the Calgary Power Co., Ltd., are not responsible for the acts of God; now that is loyalty. Jack Allen couldn't do better than that if he sat up all night preparing.

DOMINION GOVERNMENT WILL BE ASKED FOR ASSISTANCE

WINNIPEG—A demand is being made upon the Dominion Government for the continuing of assistance to the provinces for highway improvements on the ground that these improvements have such great economic value as to be of national importance and that the provinces have not the financial ability to assume the whole cost. There is reason in the suggestion that the division of responsibility between the Dominion and the provinces in regard to such matters should have some relation to the financial resources available to each. It appears to be a fair demand that the Dominion Government should at least cooperate in the completion of the Trans-Canada highway. It would not only be of value in the respective provinces but it would very greatly increase the amount of travel between the provinces. That, in itself, is exceedingly desirable. A good moderate would see much more of their own country before travelling in the United States. To hundreds of thousands of Canadians the geographical distances between the various sections of the country would be wiped out. They would understand other parts of the country better and the effect in a few years should be a strengthening of the bond of union and a better spirit of cooperation.

WHEAT TRAIN A MILE LONG IS OPERATED

WINNIPEG, Man.—The longest and heaviest train load of grain in the world's history was carried by the Canadian Pacific Railway between Moosehead and Arois, in Southern Saskatchewan, the 25 miles between the two towns being covered in 55 minutes.

When the engine reached the switch at Arois, the train waggled its tail beyond the mile board, for the over all length of the train was more than a mile in length to have been operated anywhere. In addition to being the world's record grain train, it is probably the record freight train for any class of merchandise.

In their efforts to establish a record, a caboose and engine number 1003, the Canadian Pacific officials enlisted the forces of nature, taking advantage of the heavy northwest gale to stage a record run. The train consisted of 135 loaded grain cars, each approximately 40 feet in length, a water car, a caboose and engine number 1003, a total of 202,000 bushels, or the produce from over 10,000 acres of prairie land at an average of 20 bushels to the acre.

ANOTHER "HOLT" TRIUMPH

Three weeks ago we published in this paper an invitation urging you to investigate what HOLT COMBINED HARVESTERS were doing in your District.

We ask you to make comparisons between the SWATHROW and WINDROW PICK-UP System of the HOLT method as against other means of handling grain, and also competitive machines.

You found that our statements were correct—that HOLT was the only 100 per cent perfect system—that users of this method had successfully harvested their crops while stocks were still out in the field—that their grain averaged as high as that gathered by any other method—that they had saved from ONE to THREE bushels per acre in handling and from 15 to 18 cents per bushel on operating costs.

That the ORIGINAL COMBINE—the "Holt"—wins again over all competitors and imitations.

That users are convinced that harvesting by the HOLT method is the solution of the farmers problems in Canada.

This is the reason why we urged you to investigate while the season was on and we trust you will get an order in early for your HOLT COMBINE FOR THE 1929 SEASON.

MOST AMAZING CANADIAN DEVELOPMENT

WASHINGTON—Ramsay MacDonald, aid, British labor leader, said the other day on returning to London from his Canadian trip: "Canada is the best holiday country I ever struck."

An increasing number of people from the United States have found it so. The northbound tourist tide is increasing every day. The Valued aid had something to do with this. At the modern version of Mother Goose, has it:

"Four and twenty Yankees,
Feeling very dry,
Went across a Canada,
To get a swig of rye."
But those who came to drink realized to see, and travel and praise. Not a few of them came back to invest.

It is not pleasant to an American to add that some of these investors have tried to use arbitrary, antiunion methods in their Canadian plants. It is pleasant to find that these tactics are sharply resisted. Peter Heenan, Dominion Minister of Labor, after reciting the antiunion attitude of a paper mill run by a New York newspaper, said:

"We invite and welcome American capital to come here, but its coming must mean British freedom and fair play to the workers."
One hopes there are enough Peter Heenans in Canada to enforce that rule.

"There is a vitality of expansion, a youthfulness, a hopefulness in Canada," said MacDonald; and again Americans agree.

Canada is now the best foreign customer of the United States, having passed Great Britain. Canada is the second wheat growing country in the world, and may yet be the first. Her

CANBLERS PLAYING FOR EXCEEDINGLY BIG STAKES

NEW YORK—The "Roaring Forties" are in the throes of clubs and fever as not since the days of "Death Valley Jim Scott." "Scottie," it will be remembered, struck it rich out at Goldfield, came East in a special train and proceeded to make millionaires out of bell hops and railroad magnates of waters.

The most recent thrill was precipitated when a coterie of well known "gamers" foregathered at an apartment house—upward—and endeavored to "beat the bid" off. When the smoke of battle had cleared away it was reported that Arnold Rothstein, one of the big spectacular gamblers of recent years, was "in the red" for $200,000. From the same source it is learned that the "Titanic Kid" won approximately $100,000 of this bank roll, while Meyer Boston's "bar" was $20,000 and "Nosey" Greenberg drew down $60,000.

However, the big haul of the evening was made by "Frisco" Raymond, who won $220,000. Raymond, according to reports, had been playing the horses, losing everything except the rubber band. The game of stud poker was proposed, and the only face making—among the high rollers—was "Nick the Greek" of Chicago.

PREACHERS VS. EDITORS

A preacher once said Editors dare not tell the truth. If they did, they could not live and newspapers would be a failure. The editor replied, "You are right." The minister who will at all times tell the truth about his members, dead or alive, will never occupy the same pulpit more than one Sunday, and will have to leave town in a hurry." The press and pulpit are hand in hand with white wash brush and kind words magnifying little virtues into big ones. The pulpit and press are a saint making partnership. The minister went away thoughtful, while the editor turned to his work, writing of the inconceivable beauty of the bride, who in reality was very homely.

BE A BOOSTER

If you think your local's best,
Tell 'em so.
If you'd have it lead the rest,
Help it grow.
When there's anything to do,
Let the others count on you.
You'll feel good when it is through,
Don't you know.

If you're used to giving knocks,
Change your style.
Throw bouquets instead of rocks,
For a while.
Let the other fellow roast,
Shut him up as you would a ghost.
Meet his banter with a banter,
And a smile.

When a member from afar,
Comes along,
Tell him who and what you are—
Make it strong.
Never flatter, never bluff,
Tell the truth for that's the stuff.
Be a booster, that's the stuff,
Don't just belong.

DOUKHOBORS NOW MORE AMENABLE

VICTORIA, B.C.—Doukholders of interior British Columbia, who refused for years to allow their children to attend Canadian schools, and who were accused of burning school buildings, have embraced Canadian education, so enthusiastically at last that they will build schools at their own expense it was announced at the Department of Education here.

The department is welcoming the action of the Russian colonists and is co-operating with them in planning two school buildings for the use of the Doukholder children on their own initiative, without pressure from the Government, is regarded as solving the school problem permanently and assuring an end to the present isolation of the communal settlements.

After the smoke had cleared and an examination of the results of the argument had taken place, it was found that while the couple who started the fight had suffered nothing but loss of dignity, the peacekeepers had each of them a broken leg. After the doctors had set the limbs of the injured men they were removed to their homes.

PARLIAMENT WILL DEBATE INSURANCE FOR UNEMPLOYMENT

OTTAWA, Ont.—Unemployment insurance, which was the subject of the investigation by the industrial relations committee of the House of Commons last session, will be given further consideration when parliament convenes again. This assurance was given by Hon. Peter Henry, minister of labor, who stated that the majority of the provinces of the Dominion already had declared themselves upon the proposal.

In its report, the industrial relations committee accepted and endorsed the principle of unemployment insurance based on compulsory contributions derived from the state, the employer and the employee. The report further pointed out that the responsibility for such legislation primarily rested with the provincial governments.

On the basis of the committee's findings, the department of labor communicated with the various provinces to ascertain which of them would be prepared to consider adopting the proposal and to what extent they were willing to go at the present time.

ST. LAWRENCE WATERWAY BECOMES BIG FACTOR IN U.S. POLITICS

WASHINGTON—The proposed St.
Lawrence deep waterways is becoming a strong factor in the United States presidential election. Both sides favor early construction of an outlet from the Great Lakes to the sea, but Governor Smith has been careful not to commit himself definitely to construction of the St. Lawrence route and the Republicans are playing Hoover's endorsement of that route for all it is worth.

Senator Charles Curtis, Hoover's running mate, told an audience that Governor Smith's attitude to the St.
Lawrence project was very much in line with Hoover's position. Hoover has promised to do everything possible to bring about early construction of the St. Lawrence waterway with or without Canadian cooperation.

The whole question of inland waterways and power is very much to the fore in the last few days. Hoover's attentions on government control and national resources have been constantly by Democrats to mean that he will lease water powers to private corporations. This charge has been made simultaneously in different parts of the country. Governor Smith, enroute to the southern states, told newspapermen last night that he resolutely was all ready to give a 50-year lease on the St. Lawrence waterpower development when public opinion warmed off him.

The arrangements have been made by the redistribution of the populabetween Canada and the United States.

One of the visitors, Melvin Kirk-

HEARD ON THE STREET

Frank Clutchie and his friend from Rockyford were out driving, and it was past two o'clock. Suddenly the motor gave some convulsive sobs and the car stopped. The young man visibly embarrassed, made an earnest effort to start the engine, but failed. After getting out and looking over the engine, he turned to the girl and said:

"This is most unfortunate. The gasoline tank seems to be full of water and we can't move a foot."

The girl was a brave little dear and said:

"Come on inside and stop looking so worried. This has happened to me before. All we have to do is sit in the back seat for about an hour and the water turns right back into gasoline."

"I am going to try that some time when I have engine trouble," said Jim Swanson.

Mother: "Now, Jimmy, suppose you were to hand Willie a plate with a large and a small piece of cake on it. Wouldn't you tell him to take the larger piece?"

Jimmy: "No."
Mother: "Why not?"
Jimmy: "Because it wouldn't be necessary."

An official of a telephone company was rudely aroused from his slumber by the ringing of the telephone. After brushing his knee on a chair, he reached the phone.

"Hello," he growled.

"Are you an official of the telephone company?" asked the voice.

"Yes, what can I do for you?"

"Tell me," said the voice, "how it feels to get out of bed at two o'clock to answer a wrong number?"

A bobbed-haired, scantily dressed flapper was making her application at the pearly gates, and St. Peter was putting her through her category. "What was your occupation?" he inquired.

"Men called me a gold-digger," she muttered.

"I'm sorry—but on account of the paving we can't let you in here."

An Irishman went to a dentist's to have a tooth extracted. The dentist told his assistant to get behind his chair, and at the proper time to stick a pin in the patient's leg, so that the pain there would distract his attention from the greater agony in his jaw. Tooth pull and pin stab came together and the Irishman, with a howl, turned a double somersault. "Och, murder!" he yelled. "I didn't know the roots went so far down."

Foreman: "Now, Murphy, what about carrying some more bricks?"

Murphy: "I ain't feeling so good this morning, boss; I'm trembling all over."

Foreman: "Well, then, get busy with the sieve."

"Well, Vin, what did your teacher have to say today?"

"Not much, dad, except that she had a good laugh out of that essay you wrote on Cicero."

The doctor had just been visiting in Irish parlors, and as the man's wife was showing him out he said to her: "You're husband's not so well today, Mrs. Maloney. Is he sticking to the simple diet I prescribed?"

"He is not, sorr," came the reply. "He says he'll not be after starvin' himself to such that for the sake of a livin' a few years longer."

Tommy: "My sister, Nellie, was first in history, and my sister Doris, was first in drawing."

Uncle: "Are you first in anything at School?"

Tommy: "Yes, I am always first out of it."

"Well, madam, why don't you wish to serve on the jury?" asked the judge.

"I'm opposed to capital punishment."

"But this is merely a case in which a wife is suing her husband for an account. It seems she gave him $500 to pay down on a handsome fur coat, and he is alleged to have lost the money at poker."

The woman juror spoke up promptly. "I'll serve! Maybe I'm wrong about capital punishment."

A woman went to see her negro servant, who was in bed. She gave the servant's small son, Ephraim, some money with which to buy a chicken for his mother.

On leaving she overheard the servant say: "Gimme dat cash, chile, an' so gitt dat chicken in de natchural way."

"Are you a special friend of the groom?" asked the lady. Certainly not," replied the lady. "I am the bride's mother."

"Mary refused to marry, then. Didn't you tell her about your rich uncle?"

"I did."

"Didn't that make any difference?"

"Oh, yes; Mary's my aunt now."

"Well, darling, you have nothing to reproach me with; every time you ask me to do something, like an imbecile, I do it."

"You mean you do it like an imbecile."

"Has your husband been ill with that flu?" asked the parson.

"Yes," replied the little worried-looking woman. "He has been feeling very badly. I do my best to please him, but nothing seems to satisfy him."

"Is it critical?" asked the parson.

"It's worse than critical," she answered, with a sigh. "It's abominable."

"Can't keep the visitors from coming in?" said the office boy dejectedly to the editor. "When I say you're out they don't believe me. They say they must see you."

"Well," said the editor, "just tell them that's what they all say."

That afternoon there called at the office a lady. She wanted to see the editor, and the boy assured her that it was impossible.

"But I must see him," she protested.

"That's what they all say," replied the boy.

And now a new boy is wanted there.

Sweet Simplicity: "The bride's only garment was a pearl pin of her mother's—Er."

"Yes," said Frank Clutchie. "I've had a good many adventures with in Northern Alberta. I hunted bear."

"Good gracious," cried his pretty companion, "didn't you find it awfully cold?"

Aunt Het says: "I expected to find Susan's house like it was. A woman that puts powder on in dabs ain't going to sweep under things."

They had had a little argument. He sat with his pipe and paper at one end of the room, she with her needlework at the other.

The man laid down his paper to light his third pipe of tobacco. As he struck the match his wife put aside her sewing.

"Hearry," she said sharply, "when you proposed to me you said you weren't worthy to be the dust under my shoes."

"Well," retorted her husband, "you're not going to throw that in my face, are you?"

"No," returned the woman. "What ever else you've done, Henry, you've always spoken the truth."

"Tommy," said the school teacher, "where is Havanna?"

"Between Winnipeg and Calgary," answered Tommy with surprising promptness.

"Wherever did you get that idea?" the teacher asked, much perplexed.

"That's where it is on my dial," said Tommy.

A boy was summoned to Edinburgh to give evidence against his father, who was charged with a breach of the peace.

"Come now, my little man," said the magistrate, "let us hear all you know about this affair."

"Well, sir," said the youth, settling down to business, "ye ken George V. Bridge?"

"Sure I do, laddie."

"Well, ye gang along it till ye come to a pump."

"Yes, yes! I ken it weel."

"Weel, ye gang and pump it, for ye'll no pump me."

Colonel: "Rastus, I understand that you are the father of twins. What have you named them?"

Rastus: "Well, sir, the fust ah named Adagio A Negro, an' ah'm goin' to name the second Encore."

"I know you're musical, Rastus, but why call the second one Encore?"

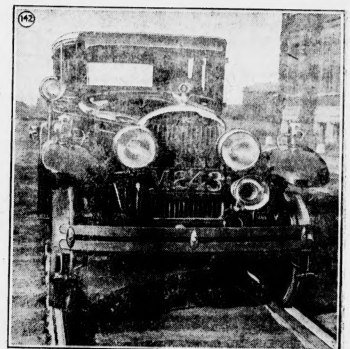

"Well, Colonel sah, y'see he wa'n't on the program at all."

Auto Is Self Steering

The heading of this article is not intended to mislead. The high power sedan pictured above is all of that and more as the "steering wheel" acts only as a front wheel brake, and all four wheels are fixed. Perhaps the most remarkable fact in connection with this handsome automobile is that it was turned out just as it appears, from the Canadian Pacific locomotive works at Angus. There you have it. The wheels are flanged, with rubber insulation between the steel tires. Supplementary lights comply with railway regulations. There are staffs for the regulation flags, a powerful horn—and a bumper. Canadian Pacific engineers will use this car for inspection purposes.

A THOUGHT FOR THIS WEEK

THE PARTY LABEL MEANS VERY LITTLE

Ontario is usually regarded as the banner Conservative Province of Canada and so far as labels are concerned it is true, Quebec, on the other hand, is the foremost Liberal Province, judged by the party color of its legislature and House of Commons representation. Yet, if judged by ideas and ideals, Ontario is a Liberal province and Quebec Conservative. Indeed, in many respects, Ontario might be considered as the "Red" Province of Canada, which is said here with no disrespect. It is not possible that we have all been misled by the respective labels carried by our two largest provinces.

Consider the attitude of Ontario on nearly all public questions except that of the tariff. Apart from its fealty to protection Ontario is really radical, its attitude on the question of public ownership alone would certainly stamp it in the eyes of "St. James Street" which is "Bitterroot" in its Toryism—as the opposite of Conservatism, rather as violently radical, though it have neither the passion nor public ownership except of the liquor monopoly. It is not argued here that public ownership is essentially a Liberal doctrine, so far as Liberalism can be judged by its Canadian setting, but if "the greatest good of the greatest number" is sound Liberal doctrine as is claimed, the public ownership is an expression for Liberalism. Yet Quebec abhors it while Ontario hugs it.

In regard to local legislation Ontario is far in advance of its sister Province. Without enumerating the various measures aimed at social amelioration which have been adopted in Ontario it can safely be asserted that the statute books of the great Conservative Province testify to its inherent Liberalism while the laws of the Province of Quebec stamp the attitude of Jean Baptiste as reactionary. —Conservative beyond almost any possibility of change. Only very tardily has Quebec adopted a compulsory Workmen's Compensation Act, and even in doing so, has seen to it that the business of insuring work people against accidents is to be in the hands of privately-owned insurance companies.

The sound progressive legislation adopted by Ontario in regard to women is another proof of its progressivism or Liberalism. While Quebec women still await women's suffrage, and have no right to vote in Provincial elections their sisters in Ontario have long held the right and exercised it. And what marks the essential Liberalism of the one and the undeniable Conservatism of the other province is the fact that Ontario is indifferent about it. It is a disgraceful conservatism. The French-Canadian people are instinctively Conservative, Ontario people more prone to social experiment and reader to uproot customs and habits that may become socially undesirable.

If we care to cast our thoughts back to next years it will be recalled that once upon a time, as the story-tellers say, Quebec was strongly Conservative, politically, while Ontario was equally strong in its Liberalism. What has changed? Not the political beliefs of the people but, largely through dissimulation with political leaders, the people changed the labels while retaining the principles. Ontario overthrew the Liberal administration, negotiated and elected a Conservative one, but retained Liberal. Quebec turned out the Conservative "radicals" when their conduct became too hot to stand any longer, and put in some others labelled Liberal but the Quebecers remained Conservative at heart. Which must us ask, what is there in party politics anyhow?

A LIVE ISSUE MUST BE DEVELOPED

The result of the Provincial General Election in Nova Scotia will receive serious consideration amongst the followers of both of our great political parties. The election down by the sea may have been suddenly called at the behest of Mr. Bennett, the new Conservative leader. Mr. Bennett is probably looking ahead to the next Federal General Election and, realising the advantage of having a Provincial Government in power of his own political color, he may have induced Mr. Rhodes to spring a surprise, election with the idea of making sure of a longer tenancy of office.

It should be said, however, that no mere juggling of elections, nor possession of election machinery, will bring back the Conservative to power at Ottawa. The time has passed for that sort of thing to weigh with the people. With a real issue any political party can sweep the country; without an issue no party can hope to win lower and office. The Conservative and an issue in 1925; the Custom Scandal. Unfortunately for them, Mr. Melgren presented the Liberals with a more vital issue; the Constitutional issue, which won. The vital issue always wins, as the Constitutional issue did in 1925.

There must be clearly defined issues before the people to maintain political vitality in a country. What Mr. Bennett will put forward as an issue is unknown. Protection seems dead since the Tariff Board was created. The exodus Mr. Bennett talks about does not interest the people nearly so much as would revealations, Economy cuts no ice; we are spending people. Mr. Bennett requires a brand new issue, one that will move the people of Canada deeply. Only this and not electoral maneuvering will cause a turnover at the next General Election. We seldom see a change of government when conditions are prosperous, but Mr. Bennett might do the trick if he can catch an issue; provided the other side does not find a larger one to submerge it, as they were fortunate enough to do last time. The blunders of the self-satisfied Premier, Mackenzie King, may aid Mr. Bennett. The game of politics is—well, it's a game, that's all.

MAN FEEL THROUGH LACK OF INTEREST

Most men who fail in life do so because they are not interested in their jobs. Seldom does a man who is interested in his work ever make a failure of things. They become indispensable in a manner of speaking. The employer they work for, or the community they serve, come to depend upon them for their enthusiasm, their reliability, and their efficiency. Such men seldom have to look for jobs; jobs look for them.

No matter what a man works at he should feel an interest in other things also, as well as the job by which he earns his living. It is surprising how frequent the ability to do other things will prove a source of helpfulness to a man when things go wrong. It may be that the fellow who has developed a love of gardening in his spare time finds, when other opportunities of work close down on him, that he has made a job for himself as a landscape gardener. The musical carpenter who was a good amateur saxophone player and became a noted orchestra leader after fate had driven him from the carpenter's bench is a case in point. Knowledge of how to do things always comes in handy at some time or other.

Something for Nothing

"Something for nothing" runs an old saying, "is worth all it costs". And this, we are afraid, is what usually happens when some member of the family is made administrator of the estate, with the idea that the administrator will serve for nothing.

Take an interest in your work. Keep your eyes off the clock and on your task. In fact if you have eyes for the work you are doing, the thing you are creating, the process you are carrying on, or the service you are rendering, you will lose the sense of time when you are working and will rather come to feel annoyed that time flies by so quickly. There is no bonum in this. Men fail at their jobs because they find nothing in them to hold their attention. Get something to do that you like doing. If you don't like it, make yourself like it. Study it. Find out all about it. Get books that will inform you. Ask others when you don't know yourself; they'll tell you. Have a hobby and have ideals. You'll never want a job if you will determine to know something just a shade better than someone else knows it, and always do the job in hand a little better than you believe the other fellow would. There is no failure except in not striving.

Strathmore Council Was Addressed by the Weed Supervisor

Supervisor, following his report upon the weed situation, a resolution was passed requesting the Canadian Pacific Supply Farm either to burn the barley crop in fields west of town or to cut same for sale in order that the seed might be destroyed.

The following report was made to the Council after which Mr. Ewing thanked the Mayor and Council for assistance rendered and asked for the future cooperation in fighting the weed menace.

Following is Mr. Ewing's report to the Mayor and Council:

In this my final report to your Council for the season of 1928, in connection with Weed control.

May I be permitted to make some comments as well possibly some suggestions that in my opinion would benefit for next year.

It is no doubt well known to your Council Board that you have a serious infestation of Perennial Sow Thistle within your Town limits.

And this is quite a problem to face. The vital question is will you simply let it alone or will you decide on its total eradication. My belief is that you are willing and anxious to do the latter.

Your weed control efforts were principally control methods that were used in your Town, and in some instances the bloom of the Sow Thistle had almost not beyond control, it was near the point of the seed being ready to blow with the wind.

Your weed inspector was faithful in what he did, and did good work in digging out the roots, also he did well in plucking the blooms and burning, but it was very hard to get him to understand that he should take full control and see that all places were kept well under control.

It is to be hoped that he had jurisdiction to think that he had no jurisdiction

Slat's Diary

BY ROSS FAIRQUHAR

Friday—me and Vin is in bad with are teacher again, as we was going to school today we went sun purp yellow floors so we that we were real nice and take sum to her, she looked at them and started in sneezing, and get real mad but how was we to know that them floors was golden rods and that she had lay fever.

Saturday—me and Vin and sum more of the boys in town has decided to organize a football team so we had a meeting today and I was made captin and Vin was made manager. We planned on buying all the gear we aint figured out where we will get the $, and Emmy and she dont approve of boys playing football cause its to easy to get hurt when they are picking goals. I guess she aint never seen a football game for they dont like the goals they make them.

Sunday—Vin's uncle Andy sent him a dog for his Birthday with he calls sport. Vin send the dog was a Police dog but he looked just like a ordinary hound to me so when I aint Vin about it he send the dog was probly in disguise like a detetive. He acts like a policeman though as he is rather eating or sleeping and he never answers wen you call him so I guess she must be 1.

Tuesday—me and pa went down town tonight to Tommy Rites to by a new suite but pa didnt see anything he liked so he didnt buy one. I bought myself a dress instead, sometimes I feel sorry for pa even if he is in my tel and like me sometimes because of the new sties dont appeal to me he has to wear his old suite for a nother season.

Wednesday—pa was talking to Gene Giroux tonight and was telling him that he shud ought to get married, pa said my boy dont you no that marry age is a great institution. Gene said yes but who wants to live in a instatution.

Thursday—me was reading the Standard tonight and it something about french caviar, ma aint Emmy what was caviar & aint Emmy and she that it was sum kind of french entomobee. I liked knowinly for I new durned well what it was, same as Bob Hambley had at his party.

over householders, gardens or yards, or any private property.

You will readily understand that a weed Inspector's duties take in all property within your Town limits, and householders and all property owners are expected to clean up according to the Inspector's supervision.

In order to make the above very clear, I will have to mention about the infestation of Per. Sow Thistle in Councilor Baileys barley field, and the C.P.R. Company's barley field west of the main part of the Town. I had very good success in getting the blooms kept pulled, and I hope burned, in regard to these two fields, every one have spoken to Councilor Bailey, also to Mr. George Jones about the importance of burning the straw of this infested area.

This matter is so important that I see no hope of total eradication of the Sow Thistle until such things as I have mentioned are done in every instance, as well as the burning of straw this fall the ground should be plowed, plowed this fall and laid exposed to frost until spring and then kept back by proper cultivation all next summer.

By paying strict attention to such as I have mentioned, and strict attention to your Park, Dump Ground, Streets, Gardens and House Yards, a strong campaign for every person support and full co-operation, to get this full support I would suggest all the publicity you can possibly get. The use of your town paper is very important work at heart. I feel sure that when another season comes that the very best effort will be made to know his duty, have neither friends nor enemies in this connection.

In this report I have confined my remarks entirely to what your town's problem is most concerned with, viz. Sow Thistle.

I also wish to mention that this matter of Weed control does so vitally effect each citizen of this Province. We all have to help pay for the expense of weed control, and unless we get results the cost of so doing is money wasted. The weeds of this district is a hindrance to the prosperity of every citizen in this district. So it is in connection with every district—every district—and it is a hindrance to the good farmer, also a hindrance to the welfare of the community and the province as a whole.

Therefore, it is every person's duty to do all possible to help on this good cause on the progressive appearance of your town, also the apparent splendour business done here, and I want to especially thank the Mayor and Council also the Secretary-Treasurer Mr. Wears, for the very courteous treatment you have shown me in my work, and knowing that you have this important work at heart. I feel sure that when another season comes that the very best effort will be made to do the very best.
